Summer Session At U. C. Branch Breaks Record

20 States Represented on Faculty as 3824 Attend Classes

Twenty states are represented by the members of the summer session faculty at the University of California in Los Angeles, which has an enrollment of 3824, the largest in the history of the school.

Some of the professors have lectured here in previous sessions, but the majority are here for the first time. The faculty members who have traveled the greatest number of miles are Mary K. Scripture, director of speech education, Vanderbilt Clinic, Columbia University, and Leah Mae Crabb, lecturer in elementary education at Columbia.

Four professors from eastern universities were invited to give work in the department of economics this summer. Clyde Elmore Burgee of the University of Montana is giving a lecture course dealing with the origin and effect of the most important economic changes in England, France and Germany during the last three hundred years.

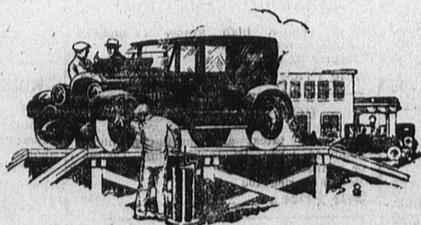

A number of courses in Mechanical Arts have been listed, which include furniture construction and repair, automobile construction, machine shop work, sheet metal work, and applied electricity.

Dr. Albert Ernest Jenks, professor of anthropology and chairman of the department at the University of Minnesota, gave the last of his series of lectures on prehistoric man and cultures July 28, when he discussed the "Non-material Cultures of Prehistoric Man."

For the first time in the history of the Los Angeles summer session a demonstration junior high school is being conducted. A model plant is used as a laboratory, and a staff of teachers picked from the city's junior high schools direct the practical work.

Your automobile needs more attention in the summer. You drive farther and your motor gets hotter, all of which means you should change your motor oil oftener.

MEN and MONEY MAKE THIS BANK SECURE

There are two ways of measuring the strength and standing of a bank. In the first place money resources—capital and surplus—give it financial strength.

In the second place—and perhaps even more important—are men, the officers and directors. They give the bank character, determine and execute its policies.

This is a strong bank, a helpful bank because it has ample resources, and a personnel of proven character and ability.

The First National Bank of Torrance is operated solely to give the kind of service that individuals and concerns in this particular community require.
